

Otterville School Is Burned

Volunteer Fighters
Unable to Cope
With Blaze in Its Quick Headway

The Otterville Consolidated school was destroyed by fire about 7:00 o'clock this morning, at a loss estimated by Superintendent V. C. Harrison of $75,000. The school had insurance covering part of the losses amounting to $50,000. The fire was believed to have been started by sparks from a defective flue, as when discovered it was burning around the flue in the first floor class room.

John Schlib, janitor of the building, reported he arrived at the school about 5:40 o'clock and by 5:50 o'clock had the fire started in the furnace preparing to warm the building before class time. It was about 6:50 o'clock, when he discovered fire in the class room.

Mr. Schlib summoned help and before many persons arrived the fire had gained considerable headway. At first it was burning beneath the flooring of the first floor class room in the northeast corner of the building, directly over the furnace room.

Efforts failed in prying up the flooring to get to the flames, and the volunteers did their best in throwing buckets of water on the fire. Smoke soon drove the fire fighters from the room and the flames had it to themselves.

The blaze quickly spread throughout the room, made its way into the room above and then spread out over the entire structure. Within an hour and forty minutes the building was nothing but charred walls and smoldering timbers.

The building had three class rooms on the east side of the first floor, the gymnasium and auditorium on west side; the second floor had three class rooms on the east side, a typing and commercial class room on the west and an office room in the center front. The basement had a small but completely furnished lunch room, furnace and storage room.

Saved Lunch Equipment
Volunteers were successful in saving all of the lunch room equipment, some chairs, a desk and two of thirteen typewriters, and a few school books and other minor equipment.

Lose Musical Instruments
An effort to save the band instruments was futile. About twenty-five or thirty musical instruments valued at about $5,000 were lost along with their music library. The band uniforms were saved as were the boys and girls basketball uniforms. New basketball jackets obtained last week were destroyed.

Discussion has started as to enlarging the school building to handle the expected increase in enrollment. Under reorganization of districts in Cooper county voted last Tuesday it raised the valuation of the school district from $787,000 to over a million and a half dollars, and gave Otterville one of the five high schools in Cooper county.

The new consolidation includes the following districts: Clifton, Rockland, Mt. Zion, Byberry, Gilroy, Otterville C-2, all in Cooper county and Victory, Harmony and

Seriously Hurt Digging Holes

Carl H. Phillips, route 2, Windsor, 34 years old, received a very bad fracture of his right leg this morning while digging fence posts on his farm with a power post-digger. The right leg of his overalls were in some manner caught in the machine as it revolved and his leg was bent against the rod. Mr. Phillips was brought to the Bothwell hospital about 9:40 o'clock by his father, G. H. Phillips. Dr. Harold V. Zuber, bone specialist, of Kansas City, happened to be in the hospital and assisted Dr. Pete Siegel, of Smithton, who was called in on the case. The injury is of a very serious nature.

Five Killed, One Lost Pants

Life Spared When Plane Crashes And
Then Destroyed

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(P)—An American flier told today how fate burned off his pants but spared his life in a plane crash that killed the six others aboard. The amphibian plane, owned by Superior Oil Co., of Los Angeles, crashed and roared into flames at London airport early today after a takeoff in fog.

The sole survivor, co-pilot Earl Oscar Sivage, 33, of Los Angeles and Cairo, was burned over large areas of his face and legs.

"I do not know what happened," he said from his hospital bed, "when we crashed the cockpit was split open and I was thrown clear."

Dead in the blazing wreckage which eerily lit the murky airport were:

Robert Allen, about 43, vice president of Superior Oil company, Los Angeles.

James Lewis, 40, member of the law firm of Caplan, Livingstone and Lewis, Los Angeles.

Sir Hugh Weightman, 50, and W. J. Horne, about 40, British officials of the Central Mining Investment Trust of London.

Pilot John Jordan, Los Angeles. Radio officer Andrew Cole of Long Beach, Calif.

His head and face heavily bandaged, Sivage told reporters:

"My pants were burnt off and I am anxious to get in touch with an official of my company because I haven't any clothes."

He saved his life by rolling in rain puddles to douse the fire in his clothes.

Production in A Deep Slash Due to Strikes

Truman Sees no
Immediate Cause
To Intervene

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—The Federal Reserve Board predicted today the impact of the steel and coal strikes will push down industrial production this month to the lowest point in 3½ years.

The strikes already have nipped in the bud a production upturn that started in August and continued in September, the board said.

An 11½ per cent drop in production was forecast for October in comparison with September, when a rise of about one per cent had lifted output to 72 per cent above prewar.

The board's report came a day after President Truman said the steel-coal situation has not reached the point of being an emergency.

Try For Settlement

His decision not to intervene now in the disputes was expected to bring redoubled efforts to bring about a voluntary settlement.

The September rise in industrial production was made in the face of the coal strike that started just after the middle of that month. The steel strike began Oct. 1, and its effects are spreading over the economy with rising force.

The board estimated that October production "largely as a result of the steel strike" will go down to a mere 52 per cent above pre-war.

That would tie the postwar low reached when the switchover from war to peacetime production brought a momentary check in industrial activity.

The October production level forecast by the Reserve Board would mean a 22 per cent dip from the all-time peak achieved in October and November of last year.

Mr. Truman said the 28-day steel and 37-day coal strikes have not hurt the country enough to call the situation a national emergency. That time, he told a news conference yesterday, is still a long way off.

Find No Trace Of Missing Girl

Prosecutor is in Doubt Over Reasons
For Disappearance

Prosecuting Attorney William F. Brown gave reasons this morning why he thought Mary Martha Mahnken, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mahnken of Cole Camp, route 1, disappearance act was causing so much speculation.

Miss Mahnken, a former school teacher at Crystal Springs, south of La Monte who was recently employed as a waitress at a Sedalia cafe, left her boarding house, 608 South Osage avenue sometime on the evening of October, this year, and has not been located since that time, by her parents or police. Her description has been circulated. Besides that, officials have made telephone calls around the middle west, when rumors have been received that she might be found there. All endeavor to locate her thus far has proven futile.

The trial of William Williams and E. H. Schlotzhauer, charged with alleged rape upon the missing girl, was scheduled to be tried in Saline county court last Wednesday, but had to be continued since the prosecutrix was not available.

Said She Was Going Home

Prosecuting Attorney Brown said, "prior to her disappearance, the girl came to his office and told his secretary, Miss Windsor, she was going home to take care of her mother, who was sick. She left word then that the prosecutrix could get in touch with her at her parents home, near Cole Camp." Mr. Brown said, "she did not show up at home."

Another reason Mr. Brown gave concerning the mysterious disappearance was, that "he was informed by the girl's father that she sent all her clothes home by a neighbor and among the clothing was a toothbrush and other toilet articles she would not have sent home if she intended to disappear, as she would have had immediate use for them."

Another reason as given by Mr. Brown, he said, "since the alleged rape, she had indicated to him a more affirmed resolve to prosecute. In view of all these things, and other indications minor in character too numerous to mention, her disappearance doesn't make sense to me."

Miss Mahnken's description is five feet 10½ inches tall, weighs 155 pounds, and has dark hair and eyes.

Rural Phone Bill is Signed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—President Truman signed the rural telephone bill today. Congress already has appropriated $25,000,000 to get the program moving.

The new law starts a farm telephone lending program similar to that of the rural electrification administration. It will be administered by the REA.

Loans will be available to existing telephone systems and farm mutual and cooperative groups.

Financing at two per cent for 35 years will be available for the improvement, expansion, construction, acquisition and operation of telephone facilities in farm areas.

Senator Hill (D-Ala) who with Rep. Poage (D-Tex) authored the bill said the program will create 70,000 permanent jobs in private industry paying $200,000,000 a year in wages.

The program is expected to mean most to the south where there are fewer farms with telephones. In the nation as a whole, an REA estimate shows there were 2,473,000 rural telephones on Jan. 1 this year. This is less than in 1920 when there were 2,498,493 farm telephones.

Eleven From US Killed

Lose Lives With 37 Others in
Crash of Plane
In The Azores

By the Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 28.—(P)—A Paris-to-New York Constellation carrying 48 persons crashed in flames against a mountain peak in the Azores today. The Air France line said all aboard perished, including French boxer, Marcel Cerdan and 11 Americans.

The plane apparently strayed from its course in bad weather and poor visibility and rammed into 3,500-foot Algarvia peak in the northeast section of Sao Miguel Island. It was five minutes away from a landing at Santa Maria in the Azores when its last message was heard. Eight hours later the wreckage was sighted.

Air France here said it received word from Santa Maria by cable that rescue parties had rushed to the scene and found all 37 passengers and 11 crewmen dead.

Noted Persons Aboard
Besides Cerdan, his manager and his trainer, the plane carried: Ginette Neveu, noted French woman violin virtuoso bound for an extended concert tour in the United States; Guy Jamin, editor in chief of the Montreal, Que., French-language newspaper, La Canada, and his mother; Remigio Hernandez, prominent Cuban yachtsman; Kay Kamen, president of Kay Kamen, Ltd., licensing representative for Walt Disney characters, and Mrs. Kamen, and Louis Boutet De Monvel, widely known French painter and illustrator of children's books.

Cerdan, former world middleweight champion, was en route to New York for a title bout scheduled Dec. 2 at Madison Square Garden with Jake La Motta to whom he lost the title in Detroit. With him were his manager, Jo Longman, and his trainer, Paul Jensen.

Air France lists identified the Americans as:

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sales, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Kamen, New York.

John Abbott, Butte, Mont.

Raul Silbernegel, the Bronx, New York.

Edward Supine, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Edward Gehring, Manhasset, L. I.

Mrs. Maud Ryan, Atlantic City, N. J.

Emory Kolmos, New York.

Irene Zisanitch, United States (no other address).

Free Sedalian; No Hearing Held

MIAMI, Okla., Oct. 28.—(P)—Sheriff Milt McCullough said today a Sedalia man arrested in connection with Grand Lake's three-year-old murder case, will be released this afternoon.

The man, a cab driver, was taken into custody after his ex-wife signed a statement implicating him.

The murder was that of Robert S. Wilkinson, 33, Orange, N. J., son of an American Telephone and Telegraph Co., executive.

Attorney A. L. Commons, retained by the Missouri's sister, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in district court today.

McCullough, however, said he would not contest the move and would free the man without a hearing.

The sheriff said he was working on a new lead developed in nearby Delaware county, but did not disclose its nature.

Tells Court Fund Was 'Dissipated'

Accusation on
Lewis And Bridges
By a Trustee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—Ezra Van Horn, employer trustee for the coal miners pension fund, told a federal court today that John L. Lewis and Senator Bridges (R-NH), his fellow trustees, improperly "dissipated" the welfare fund.

Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, represents the miners on the board. Bridges is the "neutral" trustee of the funds built up by a royalty on coal.

Suit in Accounting
Van Horn's accusation was made in his answer to a suit for accounting of the fund filed by a miner.

He said that his fellow board members refused to give him information on how the multi-million dollar fund was being disbursed.

The acts of dissipation, he told the court, are the acts solely of Lewis and Bridges.

Van Horn joined the original plaintiff, ex-miner George Livengood of Pennsylvania, in asking the U. S. district court to require an accounting.

The coal operators' spokesman declared that if any liability for damages exists on the part of the trustees, Lewis and Bridges are primarily liable. He filed a

Courtesy

Courtesy is one of the hall-marks of great ness. It was a characteristic of George Washington that he never allowed himself to be outdone in courtesy and politeness. One day he was walking with a friend when a Negro approached and saluted him.

His companion could not conceal his surprise when Washington paused and politely returned the Negro's greeting. When the man had gone on his way, he commented frankly on the President's conduct.

Suprised in turn, Washington made the simple reply: Would you have this poor man surpass one of my position in politeness?"

True courtesy is something more than good manners. It is an expression of charity or brotherly love. That aspect of courtesy was especially noticeable in another great American President, Abraham Lincoln. Courtesy always denotes a sound religious concept of life and its purposes. It is a virtue that should be taught to children from their earliest years.

Courtesy can only with difficulty be inculcated among those who have grown up in homes where it was lacking. The rude, brusque individual most likely had a father who treated him with scant regard for his feelings, or a mother who was too often in a cantankerous mood. No man or woman can be expected to learn habits of tolerance and understanding, which are basic to courtesy, unless they have seen these qualities exemplified in their formative years.

Courtesy must not, of course, be taught for reasons of social grace alone. It must be encouraged from religious motive. Otherwise, it may become a thin veneer, to be wiped out under emotional strain, or an obvious disguise for a toadying deference toward those in a superior position. It must be the genuine article or it will disappear every time it is put to a real test.

We may expect to find courtesy most prevalent among those who look upon life with faith and understanding. No deeply religious man can ever be lacking in kindness and consideration—which are but other names for courtesy—toward any fellow creature, be he a beggar demanding alms, or a friend whom he greets with a smiling salute.

Sunday School Lesson

Prophets Fought For Social Reform
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The earthly fate of the Hebrew prophets, and their deep suffering under persecution, is summarized in the tragic words of Hebrews 11:37: "They were stoned, they were sawn asunder . . . being destitute, afflicted, tormented."

Why did these chosen and select souls of Israel suffer these tortures? It was certainly not solely for their religious zeal, or their spiritual qualities: not for their earthly estate, for some, like Isaiah, were highly born, and might have been among the socially prominent and politically powerful of their day.

Rather, it was because their religious zeal was not content with formal observances and polite profession. It was a zeal for righteousness, which made them fearless in rebuking sin in high places and in low. Nor was their rebuke of sin general and formal. They were not simply "agin it." We are all against sin in a general way.

What made the prophets distinctive, and what brought upon them severe persecution, was the detailed and specific way in which they attacked the prevalent sins and especially the social sins, of their time. It is always safe to denounce personal sins in a general and impersonal way. It is when the prophet says, "Thou art the man," that he brings up on himself the wrath and hate against the unjust and evil practices from which their perpetrators are profiting that he becomes "an enemy of society."

Nothing is surer in this world than the need of social reform. There has never been an age, or place, among any people, when social injustices and evils were not rampant, and crying for correction. Yet the role of the social reformer has always been one of danger, sacrifice and social ostracism. The social reformer of today may be esteemed and honored tomorrow, but Jesus remarked upon how the children praised the prophets whom their fathers had stoned.

The reformer, of course, sometimes appears in a strange light, and in a very angular form. It was James Russell Lowell, a very real reformer himself, who wrote in his "Interview With Miles Standish" of the "Men of vision, whose gaunt eyes see golden ages rising. Salt of the earth! In what queer guys thou art fond of crystallizing."

But real reformers are to be distinguished from the marginal cranks, and the true reformers are not persecuted for their peculiarities, but because their indictments strike home against conscience and self-interest. The socially elite and successful do not like to have their sins rebuked, either personal or social.

What were the sins that the prophets denounced? What was the good way of social righteousness that they proclaimed? The sins were those that Jesus denounced in the pronouncement of "Voes" in Matthew 23 — the exploitation of the poor, the devouring of widows' houses, the selling of the righteous for a pair of shoes, the disregard of human rights and values in the grasping for wealth and power. And against this they set God's way — the way of honesty, man with man, of justice and mercy, and devotion to the common good.

It is the continuation of that conflict, through the ages, and even now, that makes the message of the prophets so persistently timeless and vital.

U. S. Diplomats Convinced That Stalin Plans Showdown With Tito

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 — U. S. diplomats from the Iron Curtain countries meeting in London this week had before them conclusive evidence that Stalin now plans a showdown with Tito. The showdown will be undertaken, as far as possible without leading to war, but if war is necessary the Kremlin apparently has decided to risk it.

Here are the factors which led American diplomats to this conclusion:

1. Tito's nose-thumbing at the Kremlin has become contagious. Other satellite countries are figuring that if Yugoslavia can get away with it, they can too. Tito, once trained as an NKVD agent, has sent his own agents out to work against Moscow in Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Roumania.

2. The end of the Greek civil war was not because the guerrillas were defeated, but to rest them for an attack on Tito. Seven thousand Greek guerrillas already have been transferred to Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia to get re-equipped.

3. A brigade of the East German People's Police has been sent from Berlin to Bulgaria. They were previously trained in Yugoslavia during the German occupation, know how to fight Tito.

4. One attack on Tito has already taken place, though no news was published in the Yugoslav papers. The U. S. embassy reported that Russian guerrillas crossed from Hungary, fired a few shots and then retreated. Tito hushed it up to keep from alarming his people.

Will USA Fight?

What the Kremlin is banking on is the belief that the United States is not ready to risk war, will not intervene to help Tito. This is based partly on U. S. isolationism, partly on Moscow's plan to disguise the Tito attack as an internal revolt.

Thus the main problem confronting American diplomats has become how to head off war by telling the Kremlin we would fight — though the final decision actually lies with Congress.

History shows that Hitler never would have invaded the Ruhr if he thought the French would have fought. He guessed right. France wouldn't fight at that time.

Again Hitler figured that the western allies would not fight if he invaded Austria, then Czechoslovakia. Again he guessed right. They didn't fight.

By that time Hitler was getting brash and bloodthirsty. Perhaps he might not have invaded Poland if he had thought the British would fight. In any event, he guessed wrong, and World War II began.

The situation may be the same regarding Yugoslavia. Its invasion may be a stepping stone to Greece, Turkey, Suez, Africa, India. We may not fight at first, but eventually we will. So the state department figures it is better to be firm at first and let the Kremlin know exactly where we stand. That is what American diplomats faced this week in London.

More Navy Headaches

The Navy has got itself into more political hot water — this time in the blue and sleepy waters of the Caribbean. The governor of Puerto Rico, Luis Munoz Marin, is so sore that he has decided to ask the recall of Admiral Dan Barbey, commander of the Caribbean sea frontier.

What happened was that the USA, while preaching democracy for France, Italy and the North Atlantic Pact countries, let the Navy play footsie with one of the bloodiest dictators in all Latin America — President Trujillo of the Dominican republic.

Just as Adm. Richard Conolly got some U. S. diplomats sore by making a special courtesy cruise to visit Dictator Franco in Spain, so Admiral Barbey made a special courtesy call on Trujillo. Furthermore, he did so after Gov. Munoz Marin had strongly advised against it.

Gov. Munoz Marin, educated at Georgetown university, USA, is one of the best friends and cultural links the United States has with Latin America.

And he pointed out to Admiral Barbey that Dictator Trujillo had slaughtered hundreds of Haitians, had instituted a reign of terror, and that if the United States really believed in the democracy it talked about, so also should its Navy.

Despite this, Barbey took his warships to call on the dictator. Afterward, Trujillo wanted to send his one warship on a return call to Puerto Rico. The state department asked Governor Marin what he thought about it, then proceeded to ignore his advice and permitted the Dominican navy's visit. Whereupon, Admiral Barbey added insult to injury by asking the governor to give a reception for the visiting Dominican navy.

Instead the governor "went fishing." And the Dominican sailors were given a frosty reception by an acting governor. All of which has raised a furore in the Caribbean. On top of it all, Admiral Barbey has gone off the radio to denounce Governor Marin and his land-use policies, with the result that Marin has now decided to ask for the admiral's recall.

Don't be so Rough, General

Major General Harry Vaughn has acknowledged that his doings are viewed as "unethical" in many quarters. But he says he isn't worried because he only has to please two people — his wife and President Truman.

As for the rest of us, he says:

"I've made various suggestions as to what other people can do. You can interpolate your own interpretation of that."

The interpretation we choose to interpolate is that the general is telling us all to go to. Nothing new in that, except that it's a bit more polite than he usually puts it.

Let's Go, Girls

Harvard University has broken a 132-year-old custom and decided to allow women to enroll in its law school.

This was probably a tougher decision than most of us realize. The guiding fathers must have wrestled with the matter a long time before letting down the bars.

To those of you who maybe can't quite appreciate the size of this thing, let us say that it might be compared roughly to an announcement from the Big Ten that it has decided to admit Slippery Rock Normal as a full-fledged member in good standing.

Scratch One Cabinet

French prime ministers generally count themselves lucky if they can stay in office a matter of months. Premier Queuille set something of a peacetime record by sticking around more than a year.

Now Premier Jules Moch has managed a new record of another sort. His cabinet has fallen even before it was formed.

Will He Try It?

Comdr. Eugene Tatom of the Navy told a House committee a man wearing ordinary clothes would not suffer serious injury from an atom bomb explosion if he stood at one end of a long Washington airport runway and the bomb went off at the other end. That's a distance of a mile and a fifth.

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, summarizing data on the atom explosions over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, would disagree with Tatom. It says that flash burns would be serious even at two miles. Moreover, it concludes that anyone that close surely would suffer "radiation sickness" probably resulting in death.

Perhaps Tatom hasn't quite caught up in his reading.

No Thank You

Russia is playing cagey again. It offers in the United Nations to tell how many atom bombs it has if we will do likewise.

Offhand that sounds like a pretty fair proposal. But the fact is the Soviet Union would be the chief beneficiary of such an exchange. Our scientists agree that Russia is probably about where we were in 1945 in atomic development. That means it has no more than a handful of bombs. But this country has been stockpiling bombs for years now. How many we have would be highly useful to our Communist cousins.

In this situation, the United States had better try to struggle along without the helping hand offered by the Soviet Union.

Around the Cracker Barrel

About this time of year when the smell of wood smoke delights our nostrils, political questions seem to take up a disproportionate share of conversation. Despite the fact that this is not a major election year cracker-barrel politicians are at it with a fervor that strikes us as being pretty level-headed.

Pick up your newspaper and you'll find it literally coated with news of political happenings in every corner of the earth. The reason all that information is supplied to readers is because the people desire food for thought. It is our opinion that nothing but good can come from such a concentrated demand. When people are that conscious of the way they and other peoples are being governed, no one is going to fool them for any great length of time and get away with it.

• So They Say

We have made it perfectly clear that there should be international control of atomic energy. Great progress will be made if Soviet Russia will agree to international inspection.—British Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

We have been prepared to repel attack for some time and we have provided ample funds for what is needed.—Chairman Clarence Cannon, House Appropriations Committee.

So great and pressing has the world's need for the United Nations become that if it were nonexistent today, we would find ourselves compelled to create it.—UN Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo.

We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the USSR.—President Truman.

The theory that the government should become the dispenser of everything a person needs in his lifetime is ridiculous.—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio.

In all candor and at the risk of being undiplomatic, our problem is not only to get Europe on its own feet but off our backs.—ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman.

I do not believe in free trade.—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio.

I have not been able to talk to Joe Stalin and find out if he still loves me. I am unemployed at present and looking for a job.—Earl Browder, former head of U. S. Communist party.

Is Your Hubby Extravagant? Nagging Won't Help Situation

You hear a lot about that extravagant wife—but a husband can be the extravagant one and then it's an even tougher problem, for the wife can't "lay down the law" when it's his own money he's throwing around.

One wife writes me: "I come from thrifty people—and the security of money in the bank means a lot to me. But my husband believes in living for today and letting tomorrow take care of itself.

"I pinch pennies when I market, do without clothes, etc., in the hope that we can save some money—and then my husband goes out and buys some expensive gadget or a suit he doesn't need—and all my penny-pinching savings are gone in one reckless purchase. What in the world can I do about it?"

Not much, I'm afraid. Some men don't want their money saved—and if they can't be sold on the idea, a woman's penny-pinching is so much wasted effort.

Stop Pinching That Penny
Why don't you stop penny pinching for awhile—particularly when it means doing without clothes for yourself, etc. After all, if the money is going to be spent, anyway, you might as well get some of the benefits from it.

If you have no children or if they are at an age where you don't have to be at home all the time you might try getting a full-time or part-time job—and banking your paycheck every week. Tell your husband you intend to put the money you earn aside for the future—and stick by it.

If you can't hold down a job yourself and you can't get your husband to see the importance of a family's saving for the future—there actually isn't much you can do.

But whatever you do, don't nag your husband about money. That won't make him less extravagant.

And remember this: you won't be nearly so resentful when he buys something he wants for himself go and get something you want for your house or for your own use.

But the more you pinch pennies the more you'll resent his extravagances.

'Shaking Palsy' Victims Should Shy From Strenuous Exercise

Paralysis agitans, Parkinson's disease or "shaking palsy" are different names for a rather common disorder of the nervous system. The symptoms generally begin gradually, usually in one hand. At first the typical shaking movement may not be present all of the time. A loss of muscular strength and stiff feeling may be the first signs. The muscular movements become less rapid and more difficult to carry through. The trembling movements at rest are not long delayed.

Two kinds of Parkinson's disease are common. One is that which develops in older people and more often in men than in women, the cause of which is not known. It is probably related to the aging process. Sometimes severe anxiety or shock brings on the symptoms but the real cause is probably something else.

Second Variety
Some infections, especially what is called epidemic encephalitis, which is a virus infection of the brain, sometimes spoken of as American sleeping sickness, is responsible for the second variety. When Parkinson's disease develops from this cause, it comes about as frequently in women as in men. Of course, it is likely to occur at younger ages also.

People who have either kind of paralysis agitans are usually advised against becoming overtired. A reasonably active life with some work is good for most; however, strenuous exercise is usually taboo. Cold-water treatments, special exercises, sun baths, massage and vitamin preparation have all been tried without much success. There are several drugs which are often helpful in controlling the "shakes" too, but there is no single treatment which will cure the condition. Nevertheless many people get along with it for a long time without serious difficulty.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

QUESTION: Do alcoholic drinks make a bronchial asthma worse?

ANSWER: This is possible, although not necessarily the rule. If alcohol does make attacks worse in an individual case, it would be wise to discontinue such drinks.

How to Ruin a Vacation

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXXXV

A HOSPITAL attendant motioned Tod in to see Ma, and her eyes opened as he reached the bed.

She smiled faintly. He felt panicky and alone. He wanted to do something for her, but he didn't know what he could do. It was a terrible feeling, being so alone, and so ineffectual.

"Tod," she stopped between words, like a spent runner. He leaned closer, to hear what she said. "You ought to make up with Jenny."

"Hush, Ma, don't try to talk. I'll do that."

Her eyes fluttered shut. They let him stay there by her bed. The nurse brought a chair for him, and then they put up the usual screens.

After the funeral, the days passed monotonously, and he seemed to move in a vacuum, unknowing and uncaring. He took a room near his work. It was a dismal little place, but it didn't cost much, and it was all he needed, because he was generally in the tavern at the corner evenings.

Rick looked him up once and found him there. They talked for quite a while about different things, and then Rick said suddenly, "So it's all washed up between you and Liz Conover?"

"Sure. That's old news. You're behind the times," Tod said thickly.

"And you've found out you're still in love with Jenny, after all."

Tod's face tightened, and he downed his drink quickly. "What ever gave you that silly idea?"

A FEW nights later Rick had dinner with Jenny. He spoke of Tod, mentioning that he was drinking pretty heavily.

"That sounds like Tod," Jenny said lightly. He couldn't stand up to anything, she thought bitterly. He was always running away.

"You knew, of course, that he and Liz have split up?"

"I wondered why he didn't turn to her, when he needed help," Jenny said. "What's the matter, did she change her mind again?"

"No," Rick answered, "Tod discovered that he didn't love her after all. He quit the Conover agency too, in January. I don't think the new job he has amounts to much."

"Darling," Jenny whispered, "I'd much rather talk about us."

Rick reached across the table and put his hand on hers.

"I'll be so glad, Rick," she said, "when you and I are married and we're settled down with the babies."

The line of his jaw tightened and his eyes searched hers. "You think that once we're married you'll be free of him, that you won't think of him any more. Isn't that it, Jenny?"

His direct look confused her. "Nonsense!" She tried to laugh, but it was a failure.

"Jenny, in spite of all Tod's shortcomings, his foolishness in the past and his weaknesses, you still love him."

"No," she whispered then. "No, I don't want to love him, not ever again. I only want to marry you Rick. You're so fine and decent and—kind and generous."

"Quite a list of virtues, darling," Rick said gently.

"I mean it, Rick, when I say I want to marry you soon."

"If I thought it would work, darling, there isn't anything I want more. But it won't. You and I had better face it."

She couldn't do anything but stare at him.

The waiter brought their food, but after he had left neither of them made a move to eat.

"I talked to Tod for a long time the other evening," Rick said at last. "He's miserable without you, Jenny."

"Then why—"

"But he'll never come to tell you so, or make a single move to get you back. I'm sure of that. He said one reason he had stopped going to see the children was that he wanted to make sure every time between you was severed."

"If he has so much pride, then I'm sure—" Jenny began.

"He won't ever try to get you back because he has nothing to offer you. He's in debt up to his ears for his mother's funeral."

"But he's never missed a payment on the house. Why didn't he let me know it was working a hardship on him?"

"That's what I'm trying to tell you. He's so full of stubborn pride that he'd make those payments on the house if he had to sell a pound of his flesh every month to do it. I guess that day when he said he had no one to turn to but you, he really meant it."

Tears brimmed slowly into Jenny's eyes.

RICK went on talking in that low gentle voice of his, "If I thought he would make you unhappy again, Jenny, my darling, I would never dream of giving you up to him. But I think Tod's come a long way during these past few months. He's learned a lot of things the rest of us got through our thick skulls a long time ago. But he's got good stuff in him, and now that he's straightened out, if he could have you back, he'd be all right. Nobody ever needed anybody in this world any more than he needs you."

"Oh, Rick," Jenny had her handkerchief out now and was dabbing at her eyes, "I'm so mixed up. I've been fighting it so long—"

"I know Jenny. You've been fighting it ever since that day in the courtroom. I've watched you, knowing in my heart that there wasn't really any chance for me to take his place. But there's no need for you to fight it any more."

"What should I do, Rick?"

"The place where he's working is on Fifth Street, Jenny. Steuberman's Furniture Company. He gets off work at 4."

"Rick, I don't know what to say to you."

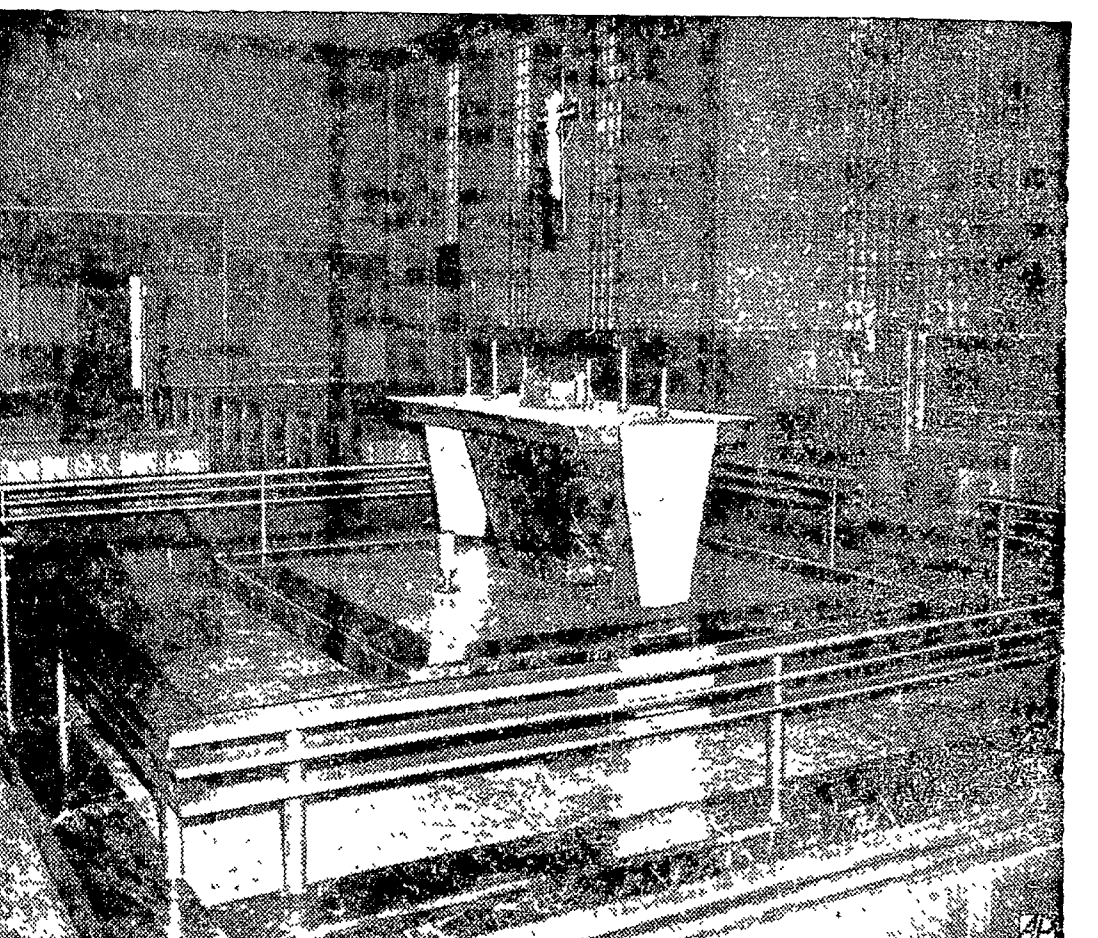

"This is what you call being 'noble,'" Rick said. He threw her a wry grin.

1932 Bonus Marchers Led By Communist

McCall's Magazine Carries Story By Patrick J. Hurley

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(AP)—Patrick J. Hurley says that the 1932 bonus marchers, by the time they reached Washington, were led by non-veterans—"for the most part, either criminals or communist agitators." Hurley was secretary of war at the time.

The march was started by a group of veterans on the west coast to petition congress to enact a soldiers' bonus bill.

"Before they reached Washington their leadership had been, to a great extent, taken over by non-veterans," Hurley writes in the issue of McCall's to go on sale tomorrow.

Unsettled Conditions

The communists among the non-veteran leaders, "taking advantage of the unsettled conditions of the country, sought to promote violence and bloodshed as a step toward communism," Hurley continues.

This has been confirmed, he said, by Benjamin Gitlow, former communist official, in his book, "The Whole of Their Lives." Gitlow declared that the Washington representative of the Communist International was bitterly disappointed that his Red followers did not succeed in provoking a massacre of the bonus marchers.

Hurley says that when Washington police tried to clear the marchers from certain downtown buildings they were occupying, several policemen were seriously injured and two of the marchers killed. The city authorities then asked President Hoover for help, and he directed Hurley to take measures to restore law and order.

Hurley ordered the army chief of staff, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to clear the city of rioters. Hurley stresses that none of the orders given—neither the President's nor any other—directed that the troops open fire. Instead, he says, all orders cautioned the troops to avoid bloodshed if possible.

Used Tear Gas Bombs

Hurley says that the evacuation of the marchers was accomplished without serious casualties; that no shots were fired, and the only weapons used were tear gas bombs.

The ex-secretary said he wrote to correct an impression given by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in her autobiography "This I Remember," also published in McCall's. Mrs. Roosevelt had said she had a feeling of horror "when I realized that the army had actually been ordered to fire on the veterans."

The widow of the late President said in a note published with Hurley's explanation that "I am glad to have an authentic account published and I only wonder why it was not done much sooner."

Mother And Two Babies Burned

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Oct. 28—(AP)—A 19-year-old mother and two babies were burned fatally here Thursday when a gasoline fire broke out in a one-room house.

The mother, Mrs. Trophie Sickles, died of burns this afternoon in an Excelsior Springs hospital. Her husband, Muri Sickles, 37, made a futile attempt to save the two children, Audrey Carol Sickles, 11-month-old son of the couple, and Allen Vernon Lee, Jr., 20-month-old son of Mrs. Sickles' sister.

The fire was caused when a jug of gasoline was knocked to the floor and ignited. The mother and two children were trapped in the flames.

The husband wrapped himself in a wet sheet, smashed a window and dragged the two children out. Mrs. Sickles was dragged from the burning house by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Goldie Sickles.

The 19-year-old seaman is accused of fatally stabbing a shipmate aboard the U. S. S. Chilton at the Puget Sound naval shipyard Sept. 12. The stabbing allegedly followed an argument at a Navy picnic.

President Doesn't Embarrass Easily

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(AP)—Pres. Truman declined Thursday to say whether he will campaign for Rep. Irving (D-Mo) of his home district.

Irving has figured in the news recently because of a controversy with the labor union of which he is an official, and the locking of his office door here in Washington.

The President said he was embarrassed-proof when a questioner at his weekly news conference asked if he felt embarrassed by the publicity received by the congressman.

He said everybody's tried to embarrass him but that they didn't have much luck.

A Bridge Not Reached

As to whether he will campaign for Irving, that is one of the bridges he will cross when he comes to it.

A reporter said Irving has been quoted as saying attacks on him have been embarrassing both to the President and himself. It was then that the President was asked if he felt embarrassed.

Irving accepted the resignation of his secretary, Vernon E. Moore, last Monday after an exchange in which Moore said the congressman's office had been closed to the public since Sept. 20. Moore himself had been locked out for several days. Irving said his services had been "unsatisfactory."

The union controversy revolves around a suit for accounting of funds of a hod carriers' local in Kansas City.

Tigers go to Jefferson City For Grid Meet

Twenty-nine Smith-Cotton Tiger gridgers, Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, Coach Howard Glavin and manager Cecil Monsees were scheduled to leave from the high school this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in one bus, to journey to Jefferson City where the Tigers and Jays will stage a grid conference tilt.

The kick-off will be at 8:00 o'clock in the city stadium and in this meet, the Tigers will shoot for their fourth straight conference victory and the sixth straight win of the season.

All season, the Tigers have been riding on top of the CEMO standings, with the Columbia Kewpies in second place. The Jays are at the bottom of the standings. But even so, the game tonight is expected to be one of the hardest for the Tigers this season, since it is homecoming night for Jefferson City and too, the Jays have always provided keen competition for the Tigers in every meet.

The starting lineup for the Tigers will be: Herrick, te; Wheeler, lg; Young, lg; Dowdy, c; Bryant, rt; Phillips, rt; Eickhoff, re; G. Dowdy, qb; Ruffin, lb; Pummill, rh and Ray fb.

Jefferson City lineup will be: Burks, lb; Brown, lg; Wallace, lg; Asel, c; Cawinger, c; Smith, rt. Rector, re; Chapman, qb; Puckett, rh, Scott lb and Bower fb.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Best reason for staging a six-day bike race (another one starts here Sunday) is offered by tub-thumper Harry Sperber: "It's a legitimate excuse for staying out all night." . . . Unbeaten Baylor U. must be getting championship ideas in the Southwest conference. Guests at Saturday's homecoming game against TCU will be the 1922 and 1924 football teams and the 1923 baseball team, Baylor's last title-winners. . . . It isn't unusual for two unbeaten teams to play in a bowl game, but the third Oyster bowl game at Norfolk, Va., tomorrow brings together North Carolina State and Virginia Tech, two teams which haven't won a game all season. . . . And the joint is sold out. . . . Must be something about the Oyster bowl that makes folks shell out.

It Couldn't Have Been Slown
The U. of Georgia publicity dept. gives full credit to a bottle of rubbing liniment for the speed with which halfback Billy Mixon scored the winning touchdown against Louisiana State. . . . Billy left the game with an injured shoulder and trainer Claude Bond Jr., saturated the injury with liniment. . . . Some of the stuff rolled down Mixon's back onto the seat of his pants. . . . Billy jumped to his feet, raced over to Wally Butts and shouted: "Put me in quick, coach. I'm ready." . . . And in just a couple of plays Mixon galloped across the goal line like a guy trying to escape a hot foot.

One Minute Sports Page
Wisconsin's Don Gehrmann established three new records in winning his first three cross country races this fall. Each was held over a brand new course. . . . William T. Woodson, Western Golf association president, recently was awarded an honorary LLD by Union college of Barboursville, Ky., in recognition of the W. G. A. caddie scholarship program. . . . When Jim Martin, Notre Dame co-captain, was shifted to tackle after three years as an end, he commented: "It's a good thing. You almost had to be a mechanical engineer to hold down an end job on this squad." . . . He meant that Leon Hart, Bill Wightkin and Bill Flynn all are engineering students—not that such precision is needed to run Frank Leahy's plays.

Dept. of Truth Stretching

From a U. of Miami publicity handout: "The average Miamiian would scarce give a glance at Miss America riding down Flagler street on Citation or Ponder because he is too interested in discussion of Andy Gustafson's spirited University of Miami football team."

Oklahoma Aggies Play U. of Detroit Tonight

DETROIT, Oct. 28—(P)—Oklahoma A&M, defending champion of the Missouri Valley conference, invades the University of Detroit football stadium tonight for a clash with the underdog Titans. About 15,000 fans are expected. Both teams have won one game and lost none in the conference competition. Detroit is playing its first year in the conference.

M. U. Tigers From Sedalia

Fred Hulse, (left) and Harold Mickens, former Smith-Cotton high school Tiger stars who have advanced into the University of Missouri limelight as Tigermen on the grid team. Hulse who lettered in '47 with the Tigers, is back playing end and is showing up among the best this season. This is his senior year with the Tigers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hulse, 720 West Broadway. Mickens, a sophomore, is playing his first year with the Varsity, and no doubt will be a letterman when the season closes, getting plenty of action this year. Mickens, plays defensive right halfback, and is rated as one of the finest prospects for regular next year. Hulse is a full time regular this year. Both are sure to be seen on the gridiron Saturday afternoon when Missouri plays Nebraska in their Homecoming game.

Austin Bealmear Offers This Week's Predictions

By Austin Bealmear

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—When the roof fell in last week, this football forecaster was buried under the wave of upsets along with some of the better teams. As a result, our average for the first half of the season dropped to .774 on 253 correct guesses and 74 misses. But this is another week and we're offering these predictions for what they're worth, with the AP rankings in parentheses:

California (4) vs UCLA (20)—first place in the Pacific Coast Conference is at stake here. California has won all six starts, three of them in the conference. The UCLans have won five out of six. Looks like the Bears will go to the Rose Bowl unbeaten, California.

Michigan (6) vs. Illinois—look who's leading the Big Ten, an Illinois team that has won only two games. That's what Michigan's victory over Minnesota did to the standings. One confident vote for Michigan.

As Usual Notre Dame

Notre Dame (1) vs. Navy—if there was one team in the country that didn't need a week's rest, it was the Irish. As usual, Notre Dame.

Texas (19) vs. Southern Methodist (11)—with Doak Walker still a little shaky and his No. 1 replacement out with a broken finger, the Methodist are in for a rough afternoon. But Texas seems to run out of gas in the stretch. Probably close. Out of the hat, Southern Methodist.

Tennessee vs. North Carolina (13)—once upon a time you could depend on form in the solid south. But not this season. The choice here is North Carolina.

Northwestern vs. Ohio State (18)—Minnesota beat both of them, yet Northwestern dumped Michigan, which stopped Minnesota. But the Buckeyes are one touchdown favorites. So be it, Ohio State.

Columbia vs. Cornell (8)—the big red shaded Princeton by the margin of two points after touchdown, thereby keeping its record clean. No such narrow squeak sighted here. A comfortable vote for Cornell.

Southern California (15) vs. Washington—the Huskies are not so husky this year. By a landslide, Southern Cal.

Duke vs. Georgia Tech—with the picture in Dixie as confused as any in the country, this pair might very well wind up with the marbles in their respective conferences. A slight edge to Georgia Tech.

To Manage Blues

Missouri And Nebraska Play At Columbia

A Homecoming Crowd of 30,000 Is Expected

By Skipper Patrick
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28—(P)—The outstanding candidates for the Big Seven conference all-star center honor Robert (Bear) Fuchs and Tom (Wrecker) Novak, will meet on the same gridiron tomorrow.

The scene will be Columbia, Mo., where Fuchs leads his Missouri Tigers against the Nebraska Cornhuskers who feature the line backing of Novak.

Each boy is a veteran in the all star business.

Fuchs, a 210-pounder from St. Louis, made the second mythical team in 1947. He was a strong favorite for the first eleven last fall.

Novak, of Omaha, Nebr., also a 210-pounder, was an all star choice at fullback in 1946, his freshman year. He played center in 1947 but was voted to a guard position with the Big Seven all stars.

Fuchs is no specialist. He's been a great line backer and blocker for three seasons.

Novak is the most bruising tackler the Big Seven has seen in many years. His deadly head-on defensive play twice earned him a spot on Notre Dame's all-opponent selections.

Kickoff at 2 p. m. Missouri is the favorite. The game starts at 2 p. m. (CST). A homecoming crowd of 30,000 is expected.

A swarm of all star hopefuls will be in action at Norman, Okla., where the unbeaten and untied Oklahoma Sooners feature their homecoming with Iowa State as the foe.

Browns Refuse Bid of $200,000 For Sievers

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28—(AP)—Arthur Ehlers, director of the Philadelphia Athletics' farm system, said today the St. Louis Browns turned thumbs down on an offer of $200,000 for outfielder Roy Sievers.

Ehlers, who handles most player deals for owner Connie Mack, said his conference with Bill and Charles DeWitt, owner of the Browns, was very unproductive.

"We want some of their players and they want some of ours," Ehlers said, "but we didn't agree on anything."

Ehlers said the A's are very much interested in securing Sievers, recently named American league rookie-of-the-year by Sports News, but that the Browns aren't willing to get the right handed outfielder go for cash.

He indicated the Browns were anxious to acquire some of the A's pitchers, possibly in exchange for Sievers.

An Increase Of Quail Over State

Season Opens on Quail, November 10 And Ends Dec. 31st

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 28—(Special)—Missouri quail hunters who return from afield employed this fall shouldn't blame a lack of birds. Quail populations have increased materially over much of the state this year, according to the annual bob white survey recently completed by biologists of the conservation commission. Vegetation has increased too, however, due to the excellent growing season and the birds may be hard to get.

South Missouri showed the sharpest increase in quail numbers over last year's figures. Carry-over of breeding stock from the 1948-49 winter was excellent over much of the state and an abundance of cover and drought free weather helped to make summer nesting satisfactory.

Though immature breeds are still being reported from the field, commission technicians estimate that about 90 percent of the season's hatch will be mature by the opening day of the season.

But the bright outlook for the fall quail season is a temporary situation, according to biologist Jack Stanford, who supervised the study. Stanford says that despite many recent efforts toward cover restoration, we are still faced with a state-wide deterioration of suitable quail range.

This decline is due in large part to modern, intensified farming operations and to the widespread removal of such permanent quail cover as hedge rows, shrubs and trees, etc.

As in recent years, quail season will be preceded by a nine-day period (November 1 to 10) closed to hunting for all game except migratory waterfowl. Up on the tenth, the season opens for quail and again for small game. Quail season closes December 31, possession and daily bag limit is 10 birds.

Last year's legal state wide take of quail was 2,200,272 birds, a number which according to available information, ranks Missouri as one of the leading quail states in the nation.

Coach Volney Ashford used his entire 50-man Missouri Valley squad last night as the Vikings rolled to a 65-6 football victory over Culver-Stockton. It was Valley's second MCAU triumph of the season.

Culver-Stockton's lone touchdown came in the fourth period when John Finnerty climaxed an 88 yard drive with a five yard plunge over the goal line. In the third period, Allen Carroll ran back the Culver-Stockton kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown.

Investigation Of Kid Gavilan Detroit Fight

Wonder If Gamblers Had Anything To Do In Gavilan's Defeat

DETROIT, October 28—(P)—Did gamblers have anything to do with the surprise defeat of welterweight Kid Gavilan in a Detroit ring last week?

Detroit police launched a full-fledged investigation today to find out.

A Split Decision
Gavilan lost on a split decision to Lester Felton, a comparative unknown. To the crowd it appeared that the Cuban, a top contender for the world's welterweight crown, had the edge in almost every round.

Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy expressed dissatisfaction with the suspension today of two fight officials who ruled against Gavilan. He said this action by the Michigan Boxing Commission was not enough.

"If it was a fixed fight, it is a reelection on this city and its police and we are going to find out what happened," Toy said.

The Boxing Commission announced that it would cooperate in every way with police.

The two suspended officials, Judge Sammy Pearlstein and referee Morris Sherman, protested during a five-day commission inquiry that they had given what they considered fair decisions.

The suspended order charged them with laxity. Commission Secretary Leo Sourial declared: "Never Use Officials Again. We'll never use these guys again."

It was revealed today that the Gavilan fight was the first Pearlstein had ever judged. His license was granted so recently that he had not even received the mailed certificate.

Sherman, once Michigan welterweight champion, had previously given "satisfactory service as a referee."

The commission did not state whether the decision in the Felton fight would be affected. This would be left up to a meeting of the full State Athletic Board, according to Sourial.

Eddie Pellagrini.

Outfielders — Paul Lehner, Whitey Platt and Stan Spence. Dillinger, a third baseman, hit 323 last season, while Priddy, a second baseman, batted .290.

Short Marriage To Engel Is Rather Costly

"Real Wife" Warned Not To Live With Him As Man and Wife

CHICAGO, Oct. 28—(P)—Sigmund (swindling Sam) Engel's "real wife" was warned that she might be fined and sent to prison if she lives with the 7' year old lothario as man and wife.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle told her Engel is legally married to another woman.

The prosecutor gave written notice to Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York. It was handed to her as she joined the parade of Engel brides testifying for the state in his trial on charges of operating a confidence game.

A few minutes earlier Mrs. Langton testified to a sudden change of heart she had for Engel.

She told a criminal court jury she married Engel June 14, 1949 in Arlington, Va., thinking he was Carl Laemmle, Jr., the motion picture figure, and worth $20,000,000. She added they now were living together as man and wife at a Chicago hotel.

Questions and Answers
These questions and answers ensued:

"Didn't you think he was a little old?"

"A little."

"What induced you to marry him?"

"Just money."

"Did you know very much about him?"

"No. He said he had $20,000,000. That looked good to me."

"Are you planning to stay by him?"

"Yes."

"What changed your mind?"

"After I read the papers I felt sorry for him and was ashamed how gullible I had been about his wealth. I decided to change my mind and to be a good wife and stick by him."

Mrs. Langton, whom Engel has described as "my only real wife," also testified he ran off with $60,000 worth of her jewels after their marriage, but that they since have been returned to her.

When she first met him, she testified, he called her Cleopatra and asked her to call him Mark Antony.

Mrs. Kubiak Loses $5,000

Mrs. Corrine Perry Engel of Los Angeles then took the stand, saying she had started action to annul her marriage. She said Engel made off with $2,800 after the wedding March 25, 1949.

Engel, she said, posed as Eugene Walter Gordon, a corporation attorney connected with Chase National bank in New York. She said when Engel proposed, he told her "you'll never work again or sew with your dainty little hands."

Another of Engel's brides, Mrs. Annette Kubiak, 39, of South Bend, Ind., testified against him earlier Thursday. She said her short marriage with him cost her $5,000.

NEW NAVY BOSS?—Informed sources in Washington say Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, above, may soon replace Adm. Louis E. Denfeld as Chief of Naval Operations. Denfeld's testimony on unification is said to have practically disqualified him from representing the Navy on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Sherman, 53, is commander of the Sixth Task Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Prague Youth Defend Crosby

By Richard Kasischke

PRAGUE, October 28—(P)—An overflow Prague music theater audience last night burst out with a storm of angry protests when a program commentator criticized Bing Crosby as a "greedy American money-seeker who sacrifices his art for gold."

The Czech audience, including many bobby-soxers, had stood in long queues to jam into the little theater to hear a two-hour program of Crosby recordings. It loosed salvos of shouts and whistling in defense of Bing.

Kind Words For Sinatra

The crowd didn't even relent when the announcer said some kind words for Bing's rival, Frank Sinatra.

Some of the feelings loosed tonight may have been pent up from the little war over American jazz which is currently rocking Prague's youth. Ardent Communists in the Czechoslovak youth front have been campaigning against jazz and jitterbugging as decadent examples of western culture.

An hour before the start of the Crosby program, block-long queues formed in front of the little downtown basement theater.

People had saved up their tickets for this night and there was a rush for the 200 seats and every inch of standing room.

When the theater was packed the young folk huddled together in the lounges and on the steps of two flights of stairs leading to the street, where they could hear the music over amplifiers.

Disregarding reserved signs on some seats for representatives of the government ministry of information, the youngsters grabbed these and refused to budge. Many had come to the theater direct from their factory jobs.

Negro Arson Suspect Shoots Self

Seriously Wounded Deputy Fire Marshall At Wichita, Kansas

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 28—(P)—A Negro arson suspect seriously wounded a deputy marshal on Thursday, then fired a shotgun blast into his own head when cornered by heavily-armed officers.

The Negro, identified as Gus Tompkins, 43, aircraft plant worker, was in critical condition at a hospital.

Condition Not Critical

The State Deputy, Otis Turner 42, was reported in serious but not critical condition at another hospital. Attendants feared he might be blinded by a shotgun charge that hit him in the face.

Glen Davis, chief criminal investigator for the Sedgewick county sheriff, said nearly two dozen county and city officers and an FBI agent drew a cordon around Tompkins in a cane field north of Wichita.

As they closed in, riot guns and pistols ready, Davis said their search was directed by shouts from E. L. Hines, 52, mill employee on top a nearby grain elevator.

Tompkins took refuge behind a pole, Davis said, then stooped and shot himself, the slugs tearing off the lower right side of his face.

Davis said officers have put together this sequence:

Tompkins, under peace disturbance bond of $25 on a complaint by his estranged wife, went back to the family's small frame home about 3 a. m. today.

Chased His Wife

His wife, Alice, fled to a neighbor's when Tompkins picked up a .12 gauge shotgun and chased her.

Returning, he drove their four children—the oldest one 12—from the home. As they ran, they looked back and saw the house burning.

Accosted by Turner today, Tompkins fled in an auto with the deputy marshal driving in pursuit.

Tompkins stopped quickly, stepped out, and fired twice at Turner as he halted his car. Turner shot once with his pistol before the second blast hit him, and he slumped behind the wheel.

Just 35 minutes later—and a half mile distant—the Negro, fleeing on foot, was surrounded and attempted to take his own life.

Denfeld Is Fired By President

Admiral Had Claimed Navy's Power Ruined Under The Unified Defense Setup

By Roger D. Greene

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, who charged that the Navy's offensive power was being ruined under the unified defense setup, was fired today by President Truman from his post as the nation's top admiral.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he was ousting Denfeld as chief of naval operation on the advice of Secretary of the Navy Matthews that it was vital "for the good of the country."

Matthews said in a letter to the President:

"A military establishment is not a political democracy. Integrity of command is indispensable at all times.

"There can be no twilight zone in the measure of loyalty to superiors and respect for authority existing between various official ranks. Inability to conform to such requirements for military stability would disqualify any of us from positions subordinate to the commander-in-chief."

News Ticker Gives News

Denfeld himself heard the news when an aide handed him a copy of a new ticker report. He was attending a meeting of the joint chiefs of staff. Incidentally, the development came on what used to be Navy day, a day of celebration for the nation's sea forces.

Mr. Truman told reporters he did not know whether Denfeld would accept transfer to other duties or resign. Denfeld had no immediate statement.

The removal came even as some Congress members demanded that the admiral not be "purged." Some others said, however, that action was necessary in view of the angry row in the armed services.

Rep. Short (R-Mo) who had warned against any reprisals arising from testimony given by admirals and generals in the recent House armed services committee hearings, said when he heard the news that he was "stunned."

"We'll have to do something about it when we come back in January," Short said.

Senators Regret The Action

Senator Hefauver (D-Tenn) said he "regretted" the action, and Rep. Sasser (D-Md) called Denfeld's removal "a setback to unification."

But Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) said Denfeld has challenged civilian control of the armed services and had impaired his usefulness.

The demotion of Denfeld to unspecified "other duties" came just two weeks after the 58-year-old admiral, testifying on Capitol Hill, accused the military high command of waging to strip the Navy down to a mere "convoy and anti-submarine service."

Despite official silence, Denfeld's departure from the high defense post had been heralded for days.

Only a few hours before Mr. Truman's announcement, Rep. Arenas (R-Ill) charged that a "campaign of terror" has been initiated in the Pentagon, with Denfeld marked as the first victim of reprisals arising from the quarrel among the nation's top military leaders.

Arens called for swift action by the House armed services committee to block any punitive action.

Short Marriage To Engel Is Rather Costly

"Real Wife" Warned Not To Live With Him As Man and Wife

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Sigmund (swindling Sam) Engel's "real wife" was warned today she might be fined and sent to prison if she lives with the 7' year old lothario as man and wife.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle told her Engel is legally married to another woman.

The prosecutor gave written notice to Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York. It was handed to her as she joined the parade of Engel brides testifying for the state in his trial on charges of operating a confidence game.

A few minutes earlier Mrs. Langton testified to a sudden change of heart she had for Engel.

She told a criminal court jury she married Engel June 14, 1949 in Arlington, Va., thinking he was Carl Laemmle, Jr., the motion picture figure, and worth $20,000,000.

She added they now were living together as man and wife at a Chicago hotel.

Questions and Answers

These questions and answers ensued:

"Didn't you think he was a little old?"

"A little."

"What induced you to marry him?"

"Just money."

"Did you know very much about him?"

"No. He said he had $20,000,000. That looked good to me."

"Are you planning to stay by him?"

"Yes."

"What changed your mind?"

"After I read the papers I felt sorry for him and was ashamed how gullible I had been about his wealth. I decided to change my mind and to be a good wife and stick by him."

Mrs. Langton, whom Engel has described as "my only real wife," also testified he ran off with $60,000 worth of her jewels after their marriage, but that they since have been returned to her.

When she first met him, she testified, he called her Cleopatra and asked her to call him Mark Antony.

Mrs. Kubiak Loses $5,000

Mrs. Corrine Perry Engel of Los Angeles then took the stand, saying she had started action to annul her marriage. She said Engel made off with $2,800 after the wedding March 25, 1949.

Engel, she said, posed as Eugene Walter Gordon, a corporation attorney connected with Chase National bank in New York. She said when Engel proposed, he told her "you'll never work again or sew with your dainty little hands."

Another of Engel's brides, Mrs. Annette Kubiak, 39, of South Bend, Ind., testified against him earlier today. She charged her short marriage with him cost her $5,000.

Sedalian Refuses Lie Detector Test

MIAMI, 'Okla., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The attorney for a suspect in the baffling three-year-old Grand Lake murder ruled out a lie detector test for his client today.

Lawyer A. L. Commons, a former state senator retained by the man's sister, advised against the test although his client earlier had said he was willing to take it.

The man, a 41-year-old Sedalia, Mo., cab driver, was implicated in a statement by his divorced wife in the August, 1946, death of Robert S. Wilkinson, 33, Orange, N. J. The victim's body was found floating in the Lake, $1,849 strapped about the waist.

Sheriff Milt McCullough said the Missourian willingly returned here to be questioned but has stoutly denied any part in the crime. No charges have been filed.

He also said he will seek his client's release from jail tomorrow with the filing of a writ of habeas corpus.

Negro Arson Suspect Shoots Self

Seriously Wounded Deputy Fire Marshall At Wichita, Kansas

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 27.—(AP)—A Negro arson suspect seriously wounded a deputy marshal today, then fired a shotgun blast into his own head when cornered by heavily-armed officers.

The Negro, identified as Gus Tompkins, 43, aircraft plant worker, was in critical condition at a hospital.

Condition Not Critical

The State Deputy, Otis Turner, 42, was reported in serious but not critical condition at another hospital. Attendees feared he might be blinded by a shotgun charge that hit him in the face.

Glen Davis, chief criminal investigator for the Sedgewick county sheriff, said nearly two dozen county and city officers and an FBI agent drew a cordon around Tompkins in a cane field north of Wichita.

As they closed in, riot guns and pistols ready. Davis said their search was directed by shouts from E. L. Hines, 52, mill employee on top a nearby grain elevator.

Tompkins took refuge behind a pole, Davis said, then stooped and shot himself, the slugs tearing off the lower right side of his face.

Davis said officers have put together this sequence:

Tompkins, under peace disturbance bond of $25 on a complaint by his estranged wife, went back to the family's small frame home about 3 a. m. today.

Chased His Wife

His wife, Alice, fled to a neighbor's when Tompkins picked up a .12 gauge shotgun and chased her.

Returning, he drove their four children—the oldest one 12—from the home. As they ran, they looked back and saw the house burning.

Accosted by Turner today, Tompkins fled in an auto with the deputy marshal driving in pursuit.

Tompkins stopped quickly, stepped out, and fired twice at Turner as he halted his car. Turner shot once with his pistol before the second blast hit him, and he slumped behind the wheel.

Just 35 minutes later—and a half mile distant—the Negro, fleeing on foot, was surrounded and attempted to take his own life.

Heated Defiance By Tito

Fight to Prevent Any Subjugation By Russia he Says in Speech

By the Associated Press

Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia tossed more hot words of defiance at the Soviet Union and its satellites in retaliation for recent Russian moves against his regime.

"We shall fight—and we shall fight enduringly" to prevent Yugoslavia's subjugation by Russia, he said in a speech last night in Belgrade.

The Communist rebel's fighting words came shortly after Russia had demanded the recall of Tito's ambassador from Moscow and had charged that he was lavishing diamonds on an "American spy."

The espionage agent was named as the Yugoslav-born Metropolitan opera soprano Zinka Kunc Milanov. The singer, now in Belgrade, said the charge published in the Moscow Literary Gazette was "just silly."

Tito, in his speech to a visiting group of Italians who had fought alongside his partisans during the last war, made no reference to unconfirmed rumors of Soviet troops movements in the surrounding Communist satellite countries.

No Direct Red Army Aid

Tito's strength in opposition to Russia stems from the fact that he was a national military hero whose partisans attained their dominant position without direct aid of the Red army.

He said: "We know that in this struggle we are fighting for a great, just cause that will have tremendous historical significance for the future."

At Lake Success, the United Nations political committee struggled with another aspect of the troubled Balkans problem. The United States, Britain, Australia and China called on all countries to keep arms from reaching Albania and Bulgaria until it has been determined they have stopped aiding the Greek guerrillas.

Satellites Condemned

Yugoslavia is believed to have stopped aiding the Greek guerrillas. But a U. N. resolution asked the condemnation of three Communist satellites, Albania, Bulgaria and Romania for aiding the guerrillas in the past.

Recent Athens reports said the guerrillas are moving their base from Albania to Bulgaria as a possible threat against Tito. American advisors have recommended a reduction in the Greek army.

Latest returns in Sunday's elections in Iceland showed the Communists have lost two of their 10 seats in parliament.

Oslo dispatches said the Norwegian Communist party has expelled a former party secretary for "Titoism," blaming such deviation for Communist reverses in elections of two weeks ago.

The Indian home ministry in New Delhi announced that N. V. Godse and Narayan Apte will be hanged Nov. 15 for the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

President Doesn't Embarrass Easily

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Truman declined today to say whether he will campaign for Rep. Irving (D-Mo) of his home district.

Irving has figured in the news recently because of a controversy with labor union of which he is an official, and the locking of his office door here in Washington.

The President said he was embarrassed-proof when a questioner asked if he felt embarrassed by the publicity received by the congressman.

He said everybody's tried to embarrass him but that they didn't have much luck.

A Bridge Not Reached

As to whether he will campaign for Irving, that is one of the bridges he will cross when he comes to it.

A reporter said Irving has been quoted as saying attacks on him have been embarrassing both to the President and himself. It was then that the President was asked if he felt embarrassed.

Irving accepted the resignation of his secretary, Vernon E. Moore, last Monday after an exchange in which Moore said the congressman's office had been closed to the public since Sept. 20. Moore himself had been locked out for several days. Irving said his services had been "unsatisfactory."

The union controversy revolves around a suit for accounting of funds of a hod carriers' local in Kansas City.

1932 Bonus Marchers Led By Communist

McCall's Magazine Carries Story By Patrick J. Hurley

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Patrick J. Hurley says that the 1932 bonus marchers, by the time they reached Washington, were led by non-veterans—"for the most part, either criminals or communist agitators." Hurley was secretary of war at the time.

The march was started by a group of veterans on the west coast to petition congress to enact a soldiers' bonus bill.

"Before they reached Washington their leadership had been, to a great extent, taken over by non-veterans," Hurley writes in the issue of McCall's to go on sale tomorrow.

Unsettled Conditions

The communists among the non-veteran leaders, "taking advantage of the unsettled conditions of the country, sought to promote violence and bloodshed as a step toward communism," Hurley continues.

This has been confirmed, he said, by Benjamin Gitlow, former communist official, in his book, "The Whole of Their Lives." Gitlow declared that the Washington representative of the Communist International was bitterly disappointed that his Red followers did not succeed in provoking a massacre of the bonus marchers.

Hurley says that when Washington police tried to clear the marchers from certain downtown buildings they were occupying, several policemen were seriously injured and two of the marchers killed.

The city authorities then asked President Hoover for help, and he directed Hurley to take measures to restore law and order.

Hurley ordered the army chief of staff, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to clear the city of rioters. Hurley stresses that none of the orders given—neither the President's nor any other—directed that the troops open fire. Instead, he says, all orders cautioned the troops to avoid bloodshed if possible.

Used Tear Gas Bombs

Hurley says that the evacuation of the marchers was accomplished without serious casualties; that no shots were fired, and the only weapons used were tear gas bombs.

The ex-secretary said he wrote to correct an impression given by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in her autobiography, "This I Remember," also published in McCall's.

Mrs. Roosevelt had said she had a feeling of horror "when I realized that the army had actually been ordered to fire on the veterans."

The widow of the late President said in a note published with Hurley's explanation that "I am glad to have an authentic account published and I only wonder why it was not done much sooner."

Severely Burned By Gas Flareup

Mrs. J. J. Lamm, of Sedalia, route 5, was burned Tuesday afternoon when the oven of her bottle gas stove exploded when she tried to light it.

Mrs. Lamm believed that she had lighted the oven some time before but it evidently did not light. When she returned to the oven later and found it cold she struck another match to light it again and the gas in the unlighted oven exploded, knocking her down. Her small grandson, Gregory Padgett, was the only one in the house with her at the time, and when the explosion occurred he screamed for his mother, Mrs. Bill Padgett, who was in the yard.

Mrs. Lamm had managed to put out the fire of her clothing before her daughter reached the kitchen, but her hose were burned off of her and she received burns on her arms and legs. Her eyebrows, eyelashes and hair were also burned. Mrs. Padgett grabbed a flaming dish towel near her mother and threw it out the door.

Although Mrs. Lamm is still confined to her bed, she is getting along satisfactorily. Her most serious burns are on her arms which are bandaged.

Must Get in Over $3,000 to Reach Goal

Determination to Raise Full Amount of Chest Fund

Still more than $3,000.00 away from the goal of $20,300.00 in the Community Chest drive Sedalians are asked to bring all money on hand to the Chamber of Commerce office Monday that those in charge of the drive may know really how much more is needed. Anyone who has not yet contributed do so at once.

The full amount must be raised in some manner if the final results show the fund to be short because this year, as in other years, there is no surplus from the previous year to fall back on. It may be that if the last workers to turn in their reports and the new workers who were recruited to assist in the finishing up of the drive cannot bring in enough money to reach the quota that Sedalians will be called on to increase their contributions. "Even just a little bit more from everybody would put us over the top," one of the top workers asserted.

Negro Division Over Top

Dr. A. R. Maddox, chairman of the Negro division of the Community Chest fund, which exceeded its quota in the money-raising campaign says:

"As chairman of the Negro division of the Community Chest Drive, I want to take this opportunity through the press, to thank all of the workers and contributors who made it possible for us to surpass our quota this year and I want all the workers to receive the credit for such a nice showing. I also want to thank the Rice's Hatchery, West End Market and the Stewart Market who made it possible for our kick off breakfast which was held at Hubbard school.

"Being a member of a community means that each one of us takes part in it and contributes to its life. The hand is a member of the body; it receives life from the body and contributes to its life. If the body is sick, the hand cannot do its work well; if the hand is crippled the body suffers, so your life is closely interwoven with the community of which you are a part. The best of life comes from a participation in its life. You can imagine yourself shut off from mankind like Robinson Crusoe, but what a narrow life you would lead. Citizenship means just this, membership in the community with its giving and receiving from the community's life; and good citizenship means performing well one's part as a member of the community.

"Citizenship carries with it certain privileges and certain duties. One of the greatest of these, which may be classed both as a privilege and as a duty, is cooperation. The interest of people in one another is the broadest and deepest basis of human association. Fellowship in all of the people all of the time is the very bread of life; it is the primal enjoyment and the final fulfillment.

"It necessarily finds outlet in all directions and includes all possible civic activities. In its socialized version it seeks to raise incidental neighborhood into conscious brotherhood. I feel that Sedalia, the Queen of the Prairies will not fall down this year in this great effort that is needed badly for the maintenance of all participating agencies."

Tiger B Team Defeated Owls 18-0, Saturday

Sedalia Freshman Eight-Graders Lose To Marshall 21 to 14

The Smith-Cotton "B" team defeated the Marshall Owls "B" team Saturday morning at Liberty Park, 18 to 0. The Tigers rolled to two touchdowns in the first half, and one in the fourth period.

In the first quarter Sedalia won the loss and elected to receive. The Owls kicked off to the Tigers who fumbled on their own ten, where the Owls recovered. Sedalia then put up a stiff defense and held Marshall. Sedalia started a long drive which Marshall stopped on their own five-yard line. On the first play Marshall fumbled, and Sedalia recovered. From there Burton scored for the Tigers in two plays. Sedalia missed the extra point. After the kick-off, Marshall completed a long pass to the Sedalia 30 as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

The first play in the second period found Marshall fumbling with Sedalia recovering. From there the Tigers started their second touchdown drive. The drive ended when Burton went over for his second score from the one-foot line. The Tigers missed the extra point again. Sedalia kicked off to the Owls as the half ended.

In the third quarter, Sedalia kicked off to Marshall who failed to make a first and ten. After this the reserves came in to replace the first team. The subs played well and the third quarter saw the ball seessaw back and fourth with neither team scoring. The quarter ended with Marshall in possession of the ball on the Sedalia 30.

Last Touchdown Drive

The Tigers held and took over on their own 25. From there they started their last touchdown drive. The Tigers swept down field using short passes and quick opening plays. The drive ended when "Bill" Arnold scored from the five. Again the Tigers failed to take advantage of the extra point. Sedalia then sent in its "subs" to finish the game. The game ended with Marshall in possession of the ball at midfield.

While the "B" team was playing at the park the Marshall freshman eighth grade team beat the S-C freshman eighth grade team 21 to 14.

S-C Tigers Overpowered Kewpies 20-6

Game Was Played On Slick Field At Liberty Park

In the final home game of the season, the Smith-Cotton Tigers slashed through mud and water to earn their fifth straight victory by defeating the Columbia Kewpies, 20 to 6 in a CMOO Conference tilt at Liberty Park, Friday night.

The Tiger gridders dominated the meet by allowing the Kewpies to make only one first down during the entire game. The Tigers rolled up 217 yards rushing on the ground, while the Columbia footballers tallied only 40 yards in ground work.

Water was standing along the south side of the field, and the players constantly fell in water puddles, but shook the dampness off to remain in the game until the final whistle was blown. The visiting squad and spectators were lined up on the south side with Sedalians. Not too large a crowd was present, but the spectators were ardent sportsmen, who came out in the wet, chilly night to support their teams.

First Quarter

The first score came in the first quarter, when Gene Dowdy, Tiger quarterback, tossed the pigskin a distance of ten yards to Myron Herrick, who was waiting for the ball in the left end zone. Bod Ray attempted to smash through center for the extra point, but lacked inches of making it good.

In the second quarter, Dowdy and Herrick combined forces again to perfect a 20-yard pass. Herrick juggled the ball after he received it, but he held on to it for a score. Dale Whitfield, who seldom misses, kicked the extra point. The half time score was 13-0.

In the third period, J. Willingham slipped through the line of scrimmage and the Tiger backfield, and carried the ball for a 40-yard touchdown. The extra point kick was blocked by the Tiger line, which excelled in their department that night.

Final Score

The last touchdown of the game came in the final quarter after Columbia punted from their 16-yard line, and Delbert Bryant rushed behind scrimmage to pick the ball up and carry it over for a Tiger score. Whitfield was successful in kicking for the extra point. The expert kicker has kicked about 15 extra points for the season.

Just before the game ended, Columbia punted to Smith-Cotton, and a Tiger runner was returning the ball when tackled and the ball was fumbled. Finally after a series of fumbles, the ball ended up behind the goal line with a Columbia player on the ball, which wasn't a score, but a touch-back for Columbia. The ball was brought to the 20-yard line, and seconds later the game ended.

The Tigers meet their next foe, this Friday night when they journey to Jefferson City to battle it out with the Jays. Then the local team will have an off week, followed by a tilt with M.M.A. Statistics

Tiger statistics are 217 yards gained in rushing; 35 yards in the air, and earned 12 first downs. The team completed three passes and failed to connect with seven. They received their lowest penalties of the season which was 15 yards. They lost 33 yards behind the scrimmage line.

The Kewpies totaled about 40 yards on the ground and lost 17 yards and incomplete two passes. The team only gained one first and ten during the meet, which was in the final half. Both teams made quite a number of fumbles, due to the slippery field and the slick ball.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow said the Tigers played all right that night.

tion against Denfeld. But chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee said he had no comment on the President's action.

Navy advocates of strong naval power took another blow earlier in the day when the defense department, headed by Secretary of Defense Johnson, announced plans to slash about 11 per cent of the Navy's manpower.

Cut Back In Strength

The cutback in Navy strength, sweeping out 56,200 of the present 516,000 officers and men, will be completed by next June.

Officials explained the reduction is part of Secretary Johnson's economy program to cut the present $14,400,000,000 military budget down to $13,000,000,000 next year. Reductions in personnel for the Army and Air Force had previously been announced under this program.

Mr. Truman declined to comment on reports that Vice Admiral Forrest Sherman, commander of the sixth U. S. task fleet in the Mediterranean, will succeed Denfeld.

The White House disclosed the texts of an exchange of letters between Mr. Truman and Navy Secretary Matthews leading to Denfeld's ouster.

Usefulness Terminated

In his letter, Matthews told Mr. Truman that as long as Oct. 4 "events had taken such a course" that he had told Denfeld frankly "I feared his usefulness as chief of naval operations had terminated."

It was early in October that Navy Captain John Crommellin released naval documents picturing naval morale as badly damaged and the national security endangered under the handling of the armed services unification law.

Denfeld had been re-appointed to the defense post for another two-year term only two months ago.

Asked if he thought the move would bring about greater harmony in the bitterly split armed forces, Mr. Truman replied that he hoped so.

The chief executive said he did not know what other changes, if any, Matthews might have in mind.

Pilot Kills Self After Making a Perfect Landing

CLEARWATER, Fla., Oct. 27—(P)—A 23-year-old pilot terrorized Clearwater residents for two hours with wild power dives in a stolen plane, then calmly landed and shot himself to death today.

Officials pieced together this story.

Watkins telephoned a girl friend last night about 11:30 and told her he had decided to kill himself. Then he hung up.

Thirty minutes later frantic residents from virtually every section of town called police headquarters to report that a plane, flying without lights, was buzzing rooftops. Police cruisers spotted the zooming, diving plane and ambulances were readied for a crash.

Watkins hurtled the Piper Cub toward the Memorial Causeway drawbridge and fishermen lining the span were forced to cower behind concrete guard rails. Three times the plane screamed across, once missing the bridge tender's shelter by inches.

Then the plane began raking Clearwater Beach. Cafe and night club patrons reported the little plane zoomed so low over broad Mandalay boulevard at times they could see the grim expression of the pilot's face.

Watkins made a series of dives at homes in the exclusive Country club and Belleair sections. Again and again the aircraft hurtled earthward, only to zoom back into the sky. The landing gear scraped fronds off palm trees on several dives.

Finally Watkins flew back to the airport, its runways lighted by the headlamps of police cruisers. Flying low, the pilot opened the cockpit window and shouted "Get the hell off the field."

Then he made a perfect landing, applied his brakes and cut his run to less than 100 feet. Police heard a pistol shot, closed in and found Watkins unconscious with a wound in the temple, a pistol on the cockpit floor.

Watkins died in a hospital at 3:10 a. m. today, without regaining consciousness.

Police Chief Geo. McClamma identified the youth as Samuel W. Watkins, member of a well known Virginia family. Magistrate R. L. Baker pronounced the death a suicide.

Try to Restore Sight of Boy Blinded in a Cave

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(P)—The skilled hands of a surgeon sought anew today to restore sight to the eyes of a 10-year-old boy refugee, blinded from living in a darkened cave in Poland.

The boy, Sigmund Eisenberg, fled to the cave to escape the Nazis. Its inky darkness plus a lack of vitamins led to blindness.

The new treatments are being given by Dr. Edmund Carter Rosenhauch, former Polish army colonel. It was Rosenhauch who two years ago at a displaced persons hospital in Munich examined the boy. He's now practicing here.

Will Show How Atomic Bombs Can be Delivered

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 27—(P)—The Navy will show Nov. 7 how atomic bombs can be delivered by submarines.

It will be done by launching 15,000-pound guided missiles—"loons," which could carry atomic warheads—from the standard fleet type submarines Cusk and Carbonero.

Pacific fleet headquarters said the "loons," 30-foot-long improvement on the wartime Cusk, in buzz bomb, will be fired by the two undersea craft off Hawaii. The missiles, electronically guided by the subs, have a range of 100 to 200 miles.

The demonstration will be "a very significant step in the exploitation of sea power," said Cmdr. John C. McCain, Jr., who has charge of submarine guided missile development. He added: "The submarine, with guided missiles, has become a siege bombardment weapon and can be used

Find it Not Gold Country

Stampede to a Boom Town in Yukon Subsides

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 27—(P)—Several would-be prospectors returned today, convinced that Fishwheel, the booming town up on the Yukon flats near the Arctic Circle, is not gold country.

"Amateurs and professionals are pretty well convinced, but they're afraid to leave for fear they'll miss something," Bill Lund, Alaska Airlines pilot, said on his return from Fishwheel.

Lund, with Robert Stevenson, Northern Consolidated Airlines pilot, went to the Yukon area over the week-end and came up with two of the few nuggets he said had been found at the river.

He said the pilots showed the nuggets to a prospector.

"Lord, he shouted the news to everyone in sight. They grabbed all their tools and lit out in every direction. Even the old-timers got excited."

It's worth about 60 cents, I guess. It is surface gold, but I can't imagine where it came from.

"Everyone is getting colors (small flakes of gold) such as you might find anywhere. But I don't see any nuggets besides my own and Carroll's."

Clifton Carroll started the stampede when he found nuggets "the size of peas" stuck to the muck on the axel of his fishwheel, after which the boomtown has been named. That was two weeks ago.

ken, Lee Strader, William Holsten, John Neirman, Martin Dierking and Martin Oehlschlaeger.

Interment was made in the St. Paul's church cemetery.

Mrs. Krause was born in Saline county near Sweet Springs, February 24, 1868, the daughter of Peter and Louise Dierking Steinkuehler. She was reared and educated and confirmed in the Lutheran church in the parish of her birth. She was married to Henry Krause who preceded her in death, September 18, 1898.

The family belonged to the Dunksburg, Emma and Sweet Springs churches until Mrs. Krause retired to Concordia 12 years ago. Since that time she had been a member of the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Krause had been in failing health for some time and had made her home with her children since one year ago last February. Twelve days ago she had a fall and was hospitalized at the Bothwell hospital of Sedalia until her death which occurred Sunday before mid-night, October 23, 1949.

Besides her husband she was preceded in death by two daughters: Mrs. Thekla Schelp, wife of Fritz Schelp and Mrs. Louise Ziegelbein, the wife of Charles Ziegelbein.

She is survived by her son Ewald of Higginsville; her daughter, Dela, Mrs. Henry Ziegelbein of Hughesville; one brother, Charles Steinkuehler of Guymon, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Hemme of Marshall and Mrs. Pauline Kappelman of LaMonte; also by nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

this week as a displaced person. He and the doctor met again and further eye therapy was decided upon.

Dr. Rosenhauch said Sigmund is suffering from corneal ulcers of both eyes. He said he believes the corneal spots can be made smaller. If not, a corneal transplant may be recommended.

Sigmund's mother and stepfather came to America with him. Yesterday, she wept in the doctor's office.

"Don't cry," Dr. Rosenhauch consoled her. "I am here to help his eyes. You are in America now. In the United States one must not cry. One must always laugh."

For More Home Rule by Cities

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 27—(P)—More home rule for Missouri's cities is urged by Lt. Gov. James T. Blair.

Speaking before the 15th annual convention of the Missouri Municipal League last night, the official urged city officials to strengthen their organization "to check the trend toward government from Jefferson City and Washington."

The league, he said, should be in a position to demand from the state legislature "the right to handle your own local governments and to levy the taxes necessary to pay for their operation."

"The cities of Missouri pay 85 per cent of the tax bill, and 65 per cent of the people of the state live in urban districts. Yet about 90 per cent of our regulations come from Jefferson City."

He urged officials to quit taking their problems to Jefferson City for solution and seek their solution at home.

An early end to the "era of state and federal governments taking over and subsidizing local governmental services was seen by Edward Staples, executive director of the Missouri public expenditure survey.

The convention, attended by representatives from 150 cities in the state, ends Friday.

Beef on Hoof Near to Record

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—(P)—Beef on the hoof is selling today at near record prices in the Union stock yards.

But don't let that worry you. You aren't going to find that beef in your butcher shop with a near record price tag. In fact, you aren't going to find it there.

The top 1949 price for cattle, paid yesterday, was $41.50 a hundred pounds for prime steers. That will cut out to prime meat. It's the kind of meat which is sold directly to "name" restaurants, clubs and hotels. It doesn't get into the butcher shop.

"People who will buy those steaks won't care much whether the price is $3.00 or $5.00," one livestock commission man said. "There's always a steady demand for beef from those restaurants, regardless of price."

A Good Excuse If The Judge Believes It

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 27—(P)—Seventy-two-year-old William H. Meadors thinks the judge will understand—if the court has ever had a toothache, that is.

He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident today after his car collided with another one driven by Hubert H. Nelson, 56, of Harvey, Ill.

"I couldn't argue," he said at police headquarters "My tooth was killing me."
